Season Extension for Schools
with Rasheed Hislop, GreenThumb

Come learn about the benefits of materials you can use to protect your plants from the cold and wind later in the season. We will demonstrate how easy it is to set up a cold frame, a mini hoop house or greenhouse and how to use natural, safe methods to keep plants warm and healthy well into the frost period. We will also cover the importance of plant selection in extending the season. This will allow you to continue reaping a harvest when outside temperatures drop. Finally, this will show school gardeners how to keep their students and entire school community engaged in the garden throughout the entire school year.

Attendees should bring a vehicle to the workshop or arrange to pick up supplies at a later date from the GT Compound.

Schools gardens only. Pre-registration required.

For more info or to register call (212) 788-8062

Back to School News
Mayor Bloomberg and Rachel Ray Announce funding for School Garden Initiative

On Thursday May 13, Mayor Michael Bloomberg and famed TV chef, Rachael Ray teamed up to announce the funding for a School Garden Initiative (SGI) for the City of New York. Rachael Ray’s Yum-o! foundation donated money to help the SGI get going and back in April Mario Batali held a special dinner to raise additional funding. The SGI represents a partnership between several city agencies, state departments and non-profits including GreenThumb, Grow NYC, the New York State Dept. of Agriculture and Markets and the Office of School Food at the NYC Department of Education. The initiative aims to support school gardening efforts across the five boroughs with materials, grants, a brand new website and an expansion of the Garden to Cafè Program which allows youth to reap from their gardens and feed their whole school during a special harvest day in the cafeteria. GreenThumb will continue to support school gardens with materials and workshops and by working with all New Yorkers to give every willing school an opportunity to grow greener and healthier one seed at a time.

GreenThumb Workshops & Events

Greening Partners
A Million Ways to Get Involved

MillionTreesNYC Stewardship Corps

As part of the MillionTreesNYC campaign, GreenThumb is continuing our series of workshops focused on the value of street trees and how to care for them. At these workshops, you will:

- Learn about all of the amazing benefits and interesting facts of street trees
- Have hands-on practice taking care of street trees
- Receive a free set of street tree care supplies
- Get the latest information on requesting new trees, adopting trees on your block, and becoming a member of the MillionTreesNYC Stewardship Corps

... And don't forget to join us for lunch in the garden!

See the full workshop descriptions and dates below. For more information call (212) 788-8070.

Morning Workshop
11am - 12pm

'That Tree Saved My Life' Game Show
Compete to win while learning about the many benefits of trees. Have fun while showing off your street tree savvy, and leave with all the tools you'll need to care for the trees in your neighborhood. Bring along friends and fellow gardeners to learn about the MillionTreesNYC Stewardship Corps, and join us afterwards for lunch in the garden.

◆◆ Watering Buckets or Hoses, Cultivators, Trowels, Gloves, Trash Bags, MillionTreesNYC Tree Care Handbook ◆◆

Followed by lunch in the garden
12pm -12:45pm

Afternoon Workshop
12:45pm - 2:15pm

Hands-On Street Tree Care Clinic
Get your hands a little dirty learning how to care for and beautify the street trees on your block. This clinic will cover all the basics including how to improve soil, watering tips, strategies for discouraging litter and pets, safe tree guard design, and planting a street tree bed garden. After the demonstration, you will have a chance for hands-on practice.

GreenThumb’s online events calendar has all of the workshops in this program guide as well as upcoming events in community gardens across the city.

If your garden group is having an event and would like it on the events calendar, let us know!

Founding member and garden president, Margaret McQuillar, was presented with her very own personalized Mets game jersey by the New York Mets manager Jerry Manuel, pitcher R.A. Dickey, outfielder Angel Pagan and owner Jeff Wilpon. This gift culminated an NYC Service Day in which over 70 volunteers worked alongside the Mets and Mayor Bloomberg to restore and beautify Pleasant Village Community Garden in East Harlem.
